One environment. One simple way to care for it.

EarthShare Washington is a coalition of over 60 local, national, and international organizations inspiring people to care and provide for livable communities and a healthy planet. Your gift to EarthShare Washington is split equally among our member organizations working to:

- Clean and protect our rivers, streams and air
- Preserve forests, mountains, and meadows
- Safeguard against hazardous materials
- Advocate for reliable and efficient energy systems
- Create sustainable, healthy communities

What Your Dollar Can Do

$10 a month buys five water quality test kits for students to take on field trips to learn about the ecology of Puget Sound

$20 a month buys six complete home energy conservation kits for Washington residents

$30 a month funds a class of ten bicycle advocates

$50 a month buys 2,000 plugs of Lyngby's Sedge for salt marsh restoration--one of the most productive northwest plants that also provides crucial habitat for Chinook salmon.

Recent Successes

In 2009, EarthShare organizations received thousands of payroll donations in Washington State. These gifts helped fuel some significant accomplishments, including:

- Planting 32,000 trees, shrubs and groundcovers in Seattle parks
- Conserving 7,000 acres along Raging River
- Providing nature education to more than 28,000 students throughout the Puget Sound region
- 2,000 volunteers giving back more than 90,000 hours for trail maintenance
- 250 bicyclists received commuter education from Spokane to Seattle
