Creating Meaningful Employee Connections

EarthShare Washington in the Workplace

Since 1987, EarthShare Washington (ESW) has partnered with Washington companies, offering employees the opportunity to learn about and support outstanding local, national, and international organizations. Every year, thousands of employees support EarthShare Washington's 60+ organizations. These workplace dollars are some of the most efficient and effective sources of funding for conservation work in our state and beyond.

Leadership and diversity define EarthShare Washington, both in the organizations it represents and the companies with which it partners: Microsoft, Boeing, Washington Mutual, Parametrix, Mithun, REI, Home Depot, to name a few. Employees at these companies share a common vision for Washington State: clean water, breathable air, vibrant and healthy communities, and vital recreational lands.

Fostering Connections with Premier Organizations

In addition to distributing employee contributions to ESW member organizations, what can ESW offer your company?

- Compelling speakers covering five key issue areas: (1) energy & climate; (2) forests, habitat, & wildlife; (3) pollution & toxics; (4) sustainable communities; and (5) recreation & parks.
- Informational materials and giveaway items to promote your charitable campaign.
- News stories and volunteer opportunity listings on our website, www.esw.org, and via our monthly e-newsletter, The Earth Page.
- Customized volunteer outings and outdoor tours for your employees.

Accountable, Efficient, Trusted

The best and brightest organizations earn the privilege and responsibility of EarthShare Washington membership. Every two years, local organizations are invited to apply. Each organization undergoes a rigorous evaluation by an independent team of scientists, non-profit experts, and community leaders. In addition to the application process, ESW annually assesses each organization's financial and operational health. EarthShare Washington takes pride in its ability to provide stellar customer service to its donors, corporate partners, and the general public. Our goal is to offer your employees meaningful opportunities to learn, get involved, maintain, and improve the Washington State we all appreciate.
